

The Israeli ambassador has confirmed what many already suspect and AFP has been saying since its inception: Israel is not America's ally in the Mideast.

ISRAEL ALLIED WITH AL QAEDA IN SYRIA

- Israelis admit they prefer U.S. enemies over Assad regime
- Now is the time to end American aid to Israeli terror state

By Michael Collins Piper

Israel has finally admitted publicly (what has long been known): Israel would prefer rebels aligned with the al Qaeda terror network seize control in Syria, rather than the secular regime of Bashar al-Assad retaining power.

Israel's ambassador to the United States, Michael Oren, told The Jerusalem Post why Israel supports the al Qaeda-aligned forces.

While noting — of the rebels loyal to al Qaeda — that while Israel understands “they are pretty bad guys,” Oren told the Post for an article published on Sept. 17 that Israel views Assad’s regime as “the keystone” in “the strategic arc” between Lebanon and Iran, the nation Israel is eager to destroy.

"We always wanted Assad to go," he said. "We always preferred the bad guys who weren't backed by Iran to the bad guys who were backed by Iran." So Israel believes al Qaeda-allied forces are useful for its own ends, America's interests in the "war on terrorism" notwithstanding.

This eye-opening revelation will shock those who perceive Israel as America's closest ally, particularly in the "war on terror" aimed at al Qaeda waged in the 12 years following the 9-11 attacks which the U.S. government claims were al Qaeda's doing, despite profound evidence to the contrary.

Returning American troops — who fought against al Qaeda — and families of the dead will now rightly have some serious doubts about Israel. And troops still abroad will surely ask why they are fighting al Qaeda if America's "best friend" supports that terror network's ambitions in Syria

From an American perspective, the toll in the Afghan and Iraqi wars has been staggering: 2.5 million Americans were deployed, about half of them more than once. Some 6,650 died. Another 106,000 were wounded in action or evacuated for injury or disease. Some 675,000 veterans of the war on terror applied for disability. Suicides and other deaths among returning troops — drug overdoses, car crashes etc — are unusually high.

Academic estimates say the wars will ultimately cost U.S. taxpayers some $5 trillion. And that figure does not include untold trillions Americans give Israel, much of it for purported assistance in the "war on terror" that is being waged against al Qaeda.

Now that Israel has betrayed America and supports al Qaeda, the U.S. should cut off relations with Israel, expel its diplomats and citizens from the United States, and henceforth consider Israel an enemy in the war on terror.
